

I can make a difference by ...

Forgetting how to hate.
Living as a dreamer but also as a doer.
Standing on the edge of the earth, and coming back more humbled.
Trying, as if there was no tomorrow.

I can make a difference by ...

Considering, and yet voicing out my opinion.
Experiencing greatness, as well as misery.
Being passionate, but never obsesses.
Being as small as an ant, but as courageous as a lion.

I can make a difference by ...

Touching others, as well as allowing others to touch me.
Creating new, by honoring the old.
Living simply to see the end.
Defying, only to be defied.

I can make a difference by ...

Coloring the world with my perspective.
Using education to change the course of history.
Standing on the shoulders of the past, to predict the future.
Learning, the unattained knowledge that is hidden in the pockets of the Impoverished.

I can make a difference by ...

Sharing and not attacking.
Viewing life as a jigsaw puzzle that can only be solved by a patient hand.
Traveling, to discover the unknown.
Protecting those who have already been killed.

My name is Abraham Sandoval ...

I am seventeen years old and
I can make a difference by...

Living.
