

WOW!

Heavy droplets hit my head
Longing to be in my bed

Yellow lights across the sky, blinding these curious eyes of mine

Pitch black with nothing to see, heard ad a "Boom!" above the trees

All is covering in its wake
The sky shudders with its quake

Then the black turns to gray, and the scary tantrum fades away.

Out of the clouds comes the sun
Its quick appearance saddens none

The sky becomes a brilliant blue filled with a spectrum of hues

Strokes of color painted up high, looking so pretty it makes me sigh

The course of nature takes my breath away...

WOW!

What more can a person say?

